Operators Coffee Football

As an Operator you need to be able to keep going on high alert mode during your mission. Others will often depend on you for making great decisions in any situation. From time to time you will experience a low “caffeine index” when you are in a remote area of the world far away from your favorite local coffeeshop. To take care of the situation and to get sharp, you will need to take a coffee break and brew some “Badass Joe” Italian espresso. The Operators Coffee Football is your very own "coffeeshop in a suitcase" ready to follow you on your adventures where ever they will take you.

During the Cold War John F. Kennedy introduced the "Atomic Football" that followed POTUS everywhere he went to avoid a nuclear disaster. The Atomic Football lives on today.

The Atomic football (also known as the nuclear football, the President's emergency satchel, or just “the football”) is a modified Zero Halliburton briefcase, the contents of which are to be used by the President of the United States (POTUS) to authorize a nuclear attack while away from fixed command centers, such as the White House Situation Room. It functions as a mobile hub in the strategic defense system of the United States. It is held by an aide-de-camp.

Inspired by the Atomic Football that always is within arm’s reach, we have co-developed the "Operators Coffee Football" together with A.H. Riise with great input from our coffee loving Ambassadors. The Operators Coffee Football is loaded with great items and enables Operators to safely transport all their beloved coffee gear and coffee with them when they are on base, deployments, training, recreation or on holidays.

With the contents from the Operators Coffee Football you will always be able to have fresh brewed coffee within reach 24/7/365.
